Bulloch Secures 700 New Farm Bureau Members

More than five thousand members were secured by the various county Farm Bureau chapters in Georgia during the first annual Farm Bureau Week, September 23-28, according to incomplete reports received at the state office in Macon. Due to difficulty in tabulating many counties with large reports will be heard from later. Among the outstanding reports received were: Berrien County 743; Bulloch 700; Washington 657; Tatnall 439; Wilcox 400; Houston 349; Trell 306; Wayne 300; Twiggs 135; Crisp 140; Emanuel 140; Early 138. This first annual Farm Bureau Week was authorized by the Board of Directors and planned by and carried out under the direction of Herbert E. Woodruff, director of the organization and research. Money does grow on trees

There's gold in the forests, wealth in the trees. And the Central of Georgia helps to bring it out—not only by hauling products of the forest but by encouraging production and aiding conservation.

The Central of Georgia recognizes the importance of timber, the mighty cash crop that renews itself. The railroad was one of the first to employ a trained forester. From the beginning, his job has been to encourage production on the more than 10,000,000 acres in forests in the territory served by the railroad . . . to advise farmers in a friendly way, personally visiting timber areas and marking trees for selective cutting. He has shown growers how to count trees and how to estimate lumber content.

He acts to prevent costly forest fires that cheat and rob both man and nature. By helping to set out pine seedlings, he aids, too, in reforestation and in erosion control. This is another of the many ways in which the Central of Georgia serves—working to preserve and expand a valuable money crop for the farmer and maintaining a vital source of raw materials for the scores of industries dependent on timber.

It's a big job. And, like all the Central's development work, it gets first hand attention by the road's top executives who know that the prosperity of the region determines the welfare of the railroad.

VOLUME VI

A QUART 4-H.—Jack Brannen, the healthiest 4-H boy in Georgia, somehow finds time to drive the Bulloch County school bus and to from Nevils High School. Beverly, his 11-year-old sister, is already in the front seat, while Jack stops to pick up Levita Burms.

Preston Talks To Rotarians

Congressman-elect Prince H. Preston, Jr. told members of the Statesboro Rotarians Monday that today's Democrats and Republicans have reversed their positions as compared with the old days when the Democrats of the Jeffersonian type believed in state rights and the decentralization of government and the Republicans of the Hamiltonian type believed in strong centralization of government.

"Today the Democrats are believing in the strong centralization of government," he said, "and the Republicans are seeking the decentralization of power."

Pointing out that he is a strong Democrat, through and through, he stated that he was inclined to agree with the decentralization of power as advocated by the old Jeffersonian Democrats.

Mr. Preston told members of the Rotary club that it was "the home-folk" of Bulloch county that played the major part in making his election to Congress possible.

He pledged his best efforts to represent the people in the First District.

Mr. Preston is spending most of his time meeting individuals and groups in this congressional district. He has made several trips to Washington to confer with congressional leaders there. He was one of a group of new congressmen to meet President Truman recently, to talk about the forthcoming session of Congress.

He expects to go to Washington again soon.

Scout Drive to Be Council-Wide

According to Dean Zach S. Henderson of Statesboro this will be the first time in the history of the Coastal Empire Council, Boy Scouts of America, that a simultaneous Finance Drive will be held every city and town of the Council.

In previous years each community has put on its campaign for Scout funds independently. This year Dean Henderson, who is General Chairman of the Drive for the entire Coastal Empire Council, and his district chairmen are determined to raise all Scout funds in one campaign. Their slogan is "One goal—One Campaign—One Council—One Budget." The goal for the council is $33,919.60.

Mr. Ike Minkovitz, campaign chairman for the Bulloch, is now actively preparing for the drive in Statesboro, Brooklet, Register, Port, Stillson and Bulloch county.

The supervisory service rendered by the Boy Scouts to their country during the World War II resulted in the largest membership ever registered by this organization. At the end of 1945 there were 1,060,215 Scouts, 473,503 Cubs, and 443,745 leaders.

Georgia 4-H Club Health Champion Likes Lots of Milk; Eats Vegetables

Jack Brannen, 16-year-old winner of the Georgia 4-H health award, comes home from school every afternoon and immediately pours himself two or three glasses of "milk with the cream floating" from the china pitcher in the refrigerator.

Roy-checked Jack is the answer to a pure and healthy life. He's always been more than willing to eat his vegetables and drink his milk.

"He never passes through my kitchen without getting something to eat, though," says his mother, Mrs. Rufus Brannen. "I always thought it was bad to eat between meals—but look at Jack."

Jack doesn't give his between-meal snacks time to turn into unhealthy fat. He's off to the barns to feed his registered Poland china hogs and the Hereford cattle, or he's out to the fields to plow or hoe the peanuts.

"He has to work in the fields a lot," says his father, Rufus Brannen. "I can't get any help, and the two of us alone are keeping 200 acres of my 360 acres in cultivation."

And Jack does his share. He gets up at 6 o'clock in the morning, eats breakfast and then he leaves at 7 a.m. to drive the Bulloch County school bus to Nevils High School.

He returns with the school bus about 4 p.m. when he really gets down to business with his milk-drinking.

With a day chock-full of farm work and school work, Jack still finds time for 4-H Club work and FFA activities. He's vice president of the Bulloch County 4-H Council.

The Brannens live in what the folk in Statesboro call a "Sea Island cotton mansion," which means it's a big white house built in the days when the rich farm land was planted in black seed Sea Island cotton. Jack's grandfather was the only man who ever raised 100 bales of Sea Island cotton in one year.

Jack has been a member of the Statesboro High School 4-H Club for six years. He's raised cattle for four years, and exhibited a Hereford steer which won third place in the Statesboro cattle show last year.

He's grown peanuts, corn, cotton and oats, and plans to plant soybeans this fall.

The success of his farm work can be measured in the war bonds he has sold away. There'll be $3,500 worth by the time this year's peanut crop is harvested and marketed.

A senior in high school, Jack has always made A's and B's except for "a C in deportment."

When he gets the time, he likes to hunt for squirrels and birds. He and his father, Rufus, have a dove, and fish in Lotts Creek and the Ogeechee River.

REGISTER FARM BUREAU TO BE SERVED BY SECOND GRADE

The Register Farm Bureau is to be served a chicken supper by the second grade on Thursday night, Oct. 17. The plates will be served from the lunch room.

The purpose of doing this is to raise money for the second grade.

In addition to the crowning of the King and Queen, all of the candidates will be presented as attendants. They will make up the court. For the fun of the court and audience, students from grammar and high school will present a variety show.

Beginning at 7 o'clock the parents of the school will serve a chicken supper in the lunch room. Tickets will be on sale for the supper that night.

After the supper and stage show all eyes will be focused on the elegantly decorated booths—fortune telling, fish ponds, country store, Bingo, cake walks, bobbins for apples, ice cream, hot dogs—any and everything for a good time in a good way.

The carnival is planned each year to make money for the use of the PTA in improving the school and its grounds. They worked last year in order to raise the money necessary to install rest rooms in the gymnasium. All patrons are expecting a big time with their children at this eventful night.

3. The Post Office address of said business will be in Statesboro, Bulloch County, Georgia.

4. The nature of the business to be transacted by said corporation is to build, operate, and maintain athletic fields, stadiums, and to buy and sell goods, wares and merchandise suitable for athletic purposes; and to own and operate a sporting goods store. To organize a private corporation under the name of STATESBORO ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION, INC., have and professional ball clubs, and to charge and collect admission fees.

WHEREFORE applicants pray the creation of such corporation and that the same be vested with all the rights and powers given to like corporations by the laws of said State, as will be found in Acts of 1937-38, extra session, section 9, page 222 to 247.

DEAL & ANDERSON, Attorneys for Petitioner

ORDER OF INCORPORATION The foregoing petition of Stothard Deal, W. E. Jones, F. C. Parker, Jr., Maurice Brannen and A. W. Stockdale, each of the County of Bulloch and State of Georgia, respectfully sheweth—

1. Applicants desire to obtain a charter for a private corporation, the object of which is pecuniary gain or profit and hereby pray the creation of such corporation, under the name of STATESBORO ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION, INC., for a term of thirty-five (35) years, with its principal office in said county of Bulloch, Statesboro, Ga., but the privilege of branch offices elsewhere is desired.

2. The amount of capital with which said corporation will begin business is twenty ($20,000.00) dollars, ten per cent being paid in.

At the last demonstration staged by the Extension Service on the E. N. Anthony farm in Oconee County, the mechanical picker harvested 93.8 percent of the open cotton in a test field. After the picker went over the field, hand pickers covered the same area and picked the remaining cotton and picked up any left on the ground. The hand pickers were able to get only 6.2 percent of the total cotton open in the field.

It is necessary to defoliate the cotton stalks approximately 10 days before the mechanical picker is used in harvesting work. A number of farmers in the State are hiring planes to do this work at a cost of less than $3 per acre. Material for defoliating an acre costs less than $1.50 and the cost of applying the material by plane is approximately $1.40 per acre. One plane can defoliate as much as 400 acres of cotton per day if weather conditions are suitable and the cotton land is fairly level and open.

LAND CLEARING Much of our best farm land has been bringing in no returns and we are finding that it is often possible to clear and drain this land at a reasonable cost. Many farmers are hiring a bulldozer to clear and ditch branch bottom land that had grown up in scrub trees.

POTATOES PLENTIFUL Georgia homemakers were called upon this week by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to take advantage of the abundant supply of sweet potatoes now being harvested in the South. Homemakers are urged to plan meals for greater use of plentiful sweet potatoes.

FARM PRODUCTS DEMAND Demand for farm products in 1947 will continue strong. For the latter half of 1946, demand is not expected to be as great as for the first six months, and for the year as a whole, prices received for farm products are likely to average below those of 1946. Although prices of a number of Georgia farm crops are at record or near record levels, prices of farm labor and other things farmers must buy are much higher than a few years ago.

MORE IRRIGATION Many Georgia farm families who have seen good crops wither away and dry up during an extreme dry period are looking to irrigation to help solve the problem of too little rain during critical growing time. There are now twice as many irrigation systems operating in the State as there were just 12 months ago. There will be experimental irrigation systems in operation in 24 Georgia counties by the end of this year. Some of these are the gravity type systems operating without cost after the system is once set up.

USING BOTH HANDS By using both hands as a team in performing many household tasks, such as washing woodwork, dusting, setting the table and putting away dishes, homemakers can save much time and energy.

Ogeechee FB Hears Preston

Congress will have to reclaim some of its legislative powers, Mr. Preston, first district congressman-elect, stated at Ogeechee Tuesday night.

Mr. Preston was of the opinion that entirely too much power had been vested in appointed officials, who could by their own acts create laws to govern activities of the people. There was a time when such laws were always passed by congress, he declared. These individuals made for dictatorship of a nature and must be curtailed. OPA was one of the agencies cited by Mr. Preston to the same 75 members of the Ogeechee Farm Bureau as making its own laws.

J. A. Hart, president of the chapter, pointed out that some 75 members had renewed for next year, but they were twice that many from the community. A steak and ham supper was served prior to Mr. Preston's address.

Col. A. M. Davis, much-lauded for Mr. Preston, warned the Ogeechee Farm Bureau members that they must organize to provide adequate representation to law makers. Mr. Davis expressed the belief that Warnock could double its 75 members this year if those present would invite their neighbors to help them build a strong Farm Bureau. R. F. Deal, president of the Warnock chapter, stated that some 60 members had renewed and that they expected to have that many more by October 19th. Warnock served the same 75 members present an oyster supper.

The Sinkhole Farm Bureau also served oysters Thursday night. R. P. Mikell, the county president, expressed the belief that the county could easily reach its goal of 18,000 members in 1946. George Strickland stated that most of the group that attended the meeting regularly had renewed already and that he as president and the other officers would renew all the others in the community within the next week.

Denmark Farm Bureau held its meeting Friday night, which had been delayed by various things, and renewed most of its membership. This community has always boasted of having as its members every farmer in the area over 18 years old. J. M. Cressy, president said there is no reason to expect otherwise this year.

Small truck areas as well as pastures and forage crops can be irrigated profitably by using a new-type revolving sprinkler.

Methodists Plan New Heating and Cooling System

Rev. N. H. Williams, chairman of the Board of Stewards of the Methodist Church, announced Sunday evening at the church services that the property owned by the church, the Warnock, would have a new heating and cooling system installed.

The building, which was built in 1910, has a heating system that is now being replaced by a new system. The new system will be installed by the end of the year.

Bulloch County Celebrates 150 Years Of Progress

The anniversary of the founding of Bulloch County 150 years ago will be celebrated with historical exhibitions, displays and events during the first week in December. It was announced today by Fred W. Hodges, chairman of the general committee in charge of the program.

All high schools in the county, all civic organizations and many other groups will marshal their resources to depict in dramatic fashion the development of Bulloch county from a sparsely populated backwoods community into its present place as one of the leading counties of Georgia and the South.

Phases of the county's evolution during the decades to be depicted in exhibits and displays will include agriculture, military, transportation, health and medicine, education, domestic life, religion, sports, recreation, and industry and commerce.

Arrangements are being made to hold the program at the airport on the lower road. According to present plans barracks at the airport will be assigned to the various exhibits and the displays. The various phases of Bulloch county history will be housed there.

The final days events, which will include singing and dancing, contests, shooting matches, featuring old and new firearms, wood cutting, horse races, and other events, a style show displaying costumes of the various periods, and other events will also be held at the airport according to present plans.

Committees have been appointed to prepare the various displays and exhibits and each county high school and adult organizations have been assigned to perform the work required to perfect the plans for the program.

The exhibits, committees and schools and organizations to each are as follows: Agriculture, Byron Ellis and Kermit R. Carr, with the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Bulloch County Veterans Association; Transportation, Horace McDougald, George Bean, and Jimmy Redding, with the Elks and Stilson; Health and Medicine, the County Medical Association, Religion, Rev. Air Mail Week To Be Observed

A nation-wide campaign to make the public air mail conscious has been announced for the week extending from October 27th thru November 2nd by Arthur Turner, local Postmaster.

Turner states that inauguration of the new five-cent United States flag rate October 1st immediately brought a sharp rise in the volume of air mail posted at the Statesboro Post Office. He recalls that during the recent World War approximately 75 percent of all letters addressed to members of the armed forces overseas were sent by air mail. It is believed that the new five-cent rate will encourage the use of this means of communication for both business and personal correspondence.

The Post Office has borrowed the proven principle that by getting more customers for a good product at a reduced cost the unit cost of delivery is cut. A lower price requires one thing to succeed: a larger volume.

Business men want to have the five-cent rate continued and eventually expanded to the smaller cities. A policy of self-interest suggests that all of us promote air mail. The low rate is being tested.

Brooklet FFA Adds 23 Members

The Brooklet Future Farmers of America initiated 23 new members at their October 14 meeting and on Tuesday, October 24, the "Green Hands" certificates were presented to Bobby Alderman, Francis Tyne, Norwood Bennett, Johnny Perkins, Hubert Barnett, Roland Brannen, Earl Clark, Ray Pollock, Bobby Fordham, Herbert Tucker, James W. Tucker, DeLoe Flake, W. S. Shurling, William Smith, Clifford Wise, Hollis Martin, Jack Lunsford, Fred Knight, Billie Dan Thompson, Hubert Beasley, Leroy Cook, Harry Thomson and Robert Edwards.

The new members were welcomed into the organization by Eldwin Proctor, president of the Brooklet FFA chapter and the certificates were presented by Franklin Lee, the chapter secretary.

Friday of last week members of the club attended the state fair at Macon with George A. Chance, Jr. the club advisor.
